SISTER SHIP OF SLOCUM SYRIANS STAND IN STREET

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, August 2-James M.

Todd, an inspector, who yesterday made a partial examination of the excursion steamer Grand Republic, to-day told the Federal commission which is investigatlife-saving and fire-fighting apparatus on the Grand Republic is practically worthless. This steamer is a gister ship to the General Slocum, which was burned in East River several weeks ago, with a loss of nearly a thousand lives. She is owned by the Knickerbocker Steamship Company, which also owned the Slocum.

"The master informed us that the boat would not lay up for inspection, and accordingly we went to work on the life-preservers," said the witness. "The preservers on the main deck were in bad condition. You could break off the corners as you would a biscuit. Out of 1,682 we condemned 872. The mark was soid that we could not see it. The manufacturer's mark was 1877. We found 124 new preservers and tested 16 of them at 24 pounds weight, and they sank. After being in the water five minutes they weighed 9 pounds. They should have weighed only 2½ rounds.

"One of the life-boats had three broken oars and another two; one of the bigit was very much retted, and another had a broken rudder. One of the life-rafts had no row locks; they had been broken off. "The master informed us that the boat

"On some of the life-ratis," the in-spector continued, "apparent rivets on inspection were shown to be only false heads, the parts being soldered." "For ognament?" inquired Chairman

Murray.

"No, sir." emphatically answered the inspector, "for fraud."

The witness testified that he heard the order for the fire drill given by the supervising inspector, and he also heard the master say that he did not know what orders to give for the drill.

"He finally blew a general alarm on the whistle and rang four or five times on the ship's bell, before the crew answered," testified the witness.
